

GULFI PACHINO CRU NEROBARONJ NERO D'AVOLA IGT 2005

Tasting Notes

The intense ruby red of this wine reveals violet hints, and an intense nose notable for its red fruits and vanilla. Its fruity flavour is structured, and gives a very long and lingering finish on the palate.

Winemaker Vinification Notes

Nero d'Avola, harvested in the second half of September, starts fermentation into red wine through a long maceration on its skins. After alcoholic fermentation, malolactic fermentation takes place before the wine is poured in small, 500L barrels, where it matures for about two years, before further ageing horizontally in-bottle for at least 1 year.
