

NAONIS PROSECCO DOC EXTRA DRY NV

Wine Introduction

The production area is located on the plains of the Friuli Region. Well-known for its profound winemaking expertise, the nature of the soil and the particularly mild climate have contributed to create the best conditions for the vine growth.

Glera grapes, an ancient variety cultivated by the Romans and now known internationally for their use in Prosecco, have their natural environment and home in Friuli Venezia Giulia. Prosecco is an aromatic, fresh and lively wine, with a distinctive taste and a fine and persistent perlage.

Tasting Notes

A bright, straw yellow wine with an intense, complex, fine, fruity and fragrant bouquet, its palate is round, pleasant and fresh with a fine and persistent perlage. It is ideal as an aperitif as well as with food, especially fish or light courses in general.

Winemaker Vinification Notes

This wine is produced from grapes carefully selected directly in the vineyards. The selection takes place with the utmost care, overseen by our wine experts to ensure the quality and precision required for our wines. The grapes are vinified before selected yeasts and sugar are added to the base wine, which then undergoes a second fermentation at a controlled temperature in pressurised tanks. After the filtration process, the wine is bottled using modern technologies.
